THE CONSTITUTION

The Libertarian Party is committed to a written Constitution that protects the individual against the State.

The party takes as its model the Swiss Constitution of 1999.

This stable country with a devolution of power to its diverse cantons with different languages and religions is our preferred model.

England alone out of the United Kingdom is disenfranchised amongst the home Nations not having a parliament of its own.

Our policy is that we would adopt the traditional counties with multi seat constituencies with proportional voting as being the only rational way for the country to have representative government.

A Constitutional Court would be established

The Monarch under law would be the head of State.

Both Houses of Commons and Lords would be by popular election and not by right of birth.

The Military and Police would swear allegiance to the Constitution.
